Do You Practice Safe Text?

What about your children? While mobile messaging, Facebook and other modern communication tools have their value, they also have many hidden risks your audience needs to know about.

Now that Americans send over 5 billion text messages every day, today's youth and adults are falling victim to the perils of social and mobile networking at an alarming rate. Cyberbullying, textual harassment, online predators, sexting and bad behavior on the wild, wild web are becoming more common.

Texting and cyberbullying prevention expert, Shawn Marie Edgington, is a true believer in the power of technology to connect people of all ages, but knows these tools can be dangerous if you don't think before you text or post.

Interview Shawn to reveal:

1. The benefits and dangers of using texting, Facebook and other popular social media platforms
2. The three simple steps to prevent online mayhem
3. How to apply common-sense tips for safeguarding online privacy in the electronic age
4. How to Talk to their kids about "sexting" and other cell phone hazards
5. The Rules of Engagement - a cell phone and social networking contract every parent should execute
6. How to empower children to make the right decision online
7. The 5 tips for talking to kids about sex and technology
